What are Activities of Daily Living?

Preparing a meal. Showering. Getting dressed. These are daily tasks most of us do not think twice about. However, for an aging loved one, the ability to complete the most basic task can impact not only their quality of life but also their safety. And while everyone desires a life of independence, sometimes a bit of assistance can make all the difference. That's where we can help. Before you consult with a senior living expert about your loved one's needs, learn more about Activities of Daily Living and how they impact your loved one's life. Then, use our checklist to see how your loved one is performing at home and to help determine if they are ready for senior living assistance.

Activities of Daily Living

These essential and routine self-care tasks should be able to be performed without assistance, helping your loved one live independently at home. The inability to do so could lead to unsafe conditions and a poor quality of life.

- ✓ Personal Care & Hygiene:
Grooming essentials, such as bathing, dental hygiene, and hair
- ✓ Getting Dressed:
Being able to choose clothing and physically dress oneself
- ✓ Eating:
The ability to feed oneself (not necessarily cooking or preparing meals)
- ✓ Toileting and Continence:
Control of bladder and bowel function, plus the ability to use the toilet independently
- ✓ Mobility:
Getting into and out of bed or a chair and walking independently

Instrumental Activities of Daily Living

Though more complex than the basic ADL tasks, IADLs are still essential to living independently and supporting a high quality of life. Understanding IADLs helps assess how much assistance your loved one may need.

- ✓ Cooking and Meal Preparation
- ✓ Housekeeping and Home Maintenance
- ✓ Medication Management
- ✓ Health Management and Maintenance
- ✓ Shopping and Managing Purchases
- ✓ Communication (Phone, Email, Mail)
- ✓ Managing Finances
- ✓ Using Transportation
- ✓ Care of Others and/or Pets
- ✓ Safety Procedures and Emergency Responses
- ✓ Religious Observances
